The Transfer & Transition Student Center will host a virtual advisement day for all future transfer and branch transition students. Students will have the opportunity to meet with an academic advisor in their intended field of study to discuss how the coursework they've already taken and/or plan to take fit into their intended bachelor's degree program at UNM Albuquerque. Once students are done meeting with their academic advisor, they will have the opportunity to meet with someone to answer questions about financial, scholarships, applying to UNM, and our online programs.
